

Participation in sustainable urban mobility planning

Course description

This course covers the concept of Sustainable Urban Mobility Planning and the role of participation in the process. It also addresses the policy framework for participation, integrating participation into the SUMP development process, selecting tools for involvement, using online tools and social media, organising a participation process, managing conflict, establishing quality control and evaluation. Procedures who wish to increase their understanding of how to integrate participation into the development process of an SUMP, elaborate a strategy to involve citizens and stakeholders and manage and evaluate participation processes

Target audience

Planning authorities and other professionals concerned with transport and mobility planning and its impacts

Thematic area

SUMP

Please click here to find the course.

Date of release

2015

Associated with project

CH4ALLENGE